FORWARD

America: Land of the Free, Home of the Brave. Many refugees, who flee from the dangers of their homeland, risk their lives to enter the United States in hope for a better future. The United States, known for being the world leader in responding to emerging global issues, including providing refugee protection and humanitarian assistance, has welcomed more than 3.4 million with open arms since 1975. More than 180,000 Burmese refugees have been admitted to the U.S. since 2000. More than 40,000 Burmese reside in Indiana and approximately 27,000 are calling Indianapolis their new home. The overall Burmese population in the U.S. is estimated to be over 320,000.

As we put all our efforts towards becoming economically self-sufficient, productive and contributing citizens of the society but, are also active and engaged citizens exercising their rights and liberties dutifully and more meaningfully in this land of freedom and opportunity, one of the indicators of how well the incoming communities like the Burmese (all ethnic group of Myanmar) are performing can be assessed by looking at the level of the small business activities taking place in the community. Also, it is important to continue to explore ways in which these small businesses can sustain, continue to grow, create more job opportunities which will allow them to contribute back to the community and continue economic growth. Therefore, we hope that by publishing and distributing a Community Director that include small businesses, faith based and community based organizations, the project will serve multiple purposes in achieving some of these goals with the following main objectives:

- Inform stakeholders about the number and types of small businesses started and/or owned by Myanmar origin in Indianapolis,
- Help grow small businesses by connecting and promoting the products and services each of the services offer through various platforms and channels as widely as possible both to receiving and incoming communities,
- Continue to explore the opportunities for growth by identifying and bringing resources together for each of the business categories, and
- Create a more connected and vibrant community as a whole.

With this, we are pleased to make this important resource available to you.
